Hello, I’m Nic. I’m a cat. I’m here to talk about storyboards for your presentations.

First you need your content as a basis so you can tell where things will need to be.

Then you start the storyboarding, which can help you organize & present that content.

Remember, this process is not meant to be purrfect...get it? It just needs to work for YOU!

Take a bit of your source material, then make it a picture for that particular bit of information.

Be sure to number and describe your boards. Keep in mind sequence and flow.

Continue this process until you have drawn out all of your source material.

And that my friends is how you storyboard. Excuse me, I have a ball of string to play with.
